The Pest Office Remoral—Democratic Congressional Nomination—Emigrants—I.O. O. F.—Excursion to Columbia—Lottery Policies—Real Estate Speculations, &c.

The announcement of the City Postmaster, that he had selected the old deserted Exchange building for the pecation of the City Post office, has caused such a stir among our business-men, that a town meeting to remonstrate with the Postmaster General, is talked of.

The Democratic Ward meetings, for the selection of delegates to the Convention for the nomination of a candidate for Congress for the Fourth Congressional District, is said to have resulted in no indication of preference between Col. Mendes, J. Cohen, and William Pinkney Whyte, Esq. The unpledged delegates holding the calance of power between them, neither can command the strength of the democratic party; and if it desires success, a third man must be brought forth.

In the three upper wards of the city, comprising part of the third Congressional district, the contest for the nomination is between Carroll Spence, Esq. and the Hon. Edward Hammond. The delegates from three of the wards are in favor of Spence, one in favor of Hammond, and the other unpledged. Mr. Spence will, probably, be the candidate.

Nearly three hundred German emigrants arrived at this port yesterday, on their way to the Far West.

The different Lodges of Odd Fellows from this city who attended and took part in the dedication of the new hail of the order, at Columbia, Pa., returned yesterday, highly delighted with their visit. The procession numbered nearly 2,000 members of the order, the largest portion from Philadelphia. The oration of Horn R. Kneass, Esq. is said to have been one of the ablest expositions of the beneficial influences of the order, at early and the substantial Pennsylvania laddes were present in large numbers and brilliant beauty, beaming in health and loveliness.

to make the run by sea. Their engines are to be very powerful so as to secure speed, and enable them to carry passengers. These vessels, with the side-wheel boats on the same route, will give a daily line of communication between the two cities by sea.

Mrs. Mary Jane Cattell, while in the cars from the west on her way to this city to visit her father, Robert Luther, was selved with a hemorrhage of the lungs, which caused her death in a few minutes.

Our New Orleans Correspondence. New Orleans, June 12, 1851. Increase of Steamships—New Line from New Orleans—
More Steamers to be Built in New York, &c.

This is certainly the age of steamship navigation. It is astonishing to look back but a few years, when it was first contemplated to try the experiment of running a first contemplated to try the experiment of running a steamship across the Atlantic, and to witness at the pre-sent day the immense number of lines of steamships run-ning to and from almost every port in the world. For long voyages, however, the ship propelled with sails can never be superseded by steamships, as they cannot carry the fuel, which necessarily takes up the room for the cargo. Eesides, the quickest time ever made has been by sailing vessels, beating the steamers. The ship Sea-Witch, I think, has made the fastest run, taking the daily average of her log, on record. After all, there is nothing so beautiful in the world as a full rigged ship; and for a long voyage, give me three topsails sheeted home, with the merry cry of "old Jack" in a gale of wind, to the dull, hissing sound of a laboring ensheeted home, with the merry cry of "old Jack" in a gale of wind, to the dull, hissing sound of a laboring engine.

The steamship Pampero has lately been put into the Galveston trade here, and is, I believe, principally owned by Colonel Heise, formerly editor of the Usion. Harris & Morgan, of our village, who own the principal line of steamers to Galveston and Brazos, consider this an innovation on their rights, and, to run off the new comer, yesterday put up the steamer Globe, and put down the price of passage to Galveston at $5.50. I understand that Major Arnold Harris, of the firm of Armstrong, Harris & Co., the agents of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, and who are connected with Colonel Heise, goes north in the Cherokee to-morrow, for the purpose of ordering two more steamers to be built for the Galveston line, in order to compete with Harris & Morgan.

Another line of steamships has been started to run from this city to Havana, via Penascola, Apalachicola, St. Marks, Tampa Bay, and Key West. The first vessel in this line leaves here on the 15th instant. Then we have the line of steamships of C. J. Mescker & Co., direct to Brazos and Point Isabel. There is also some talk of getting up a line from New Orleans to Charleston, which, if it is done, will take the principal travelling off the present mail route between the two cities. This thing of riding in railroad cars, in hot, sweltering, dusty weather, is always to be avoided when one can travel by sea, and have a fine breeze and no dust. This line is wanted badly, and Spofford, Tileston & Co. could not do better than start the line, to connect with their present line from Charleston to New York. It would not interfere at all with the present through line to your city, and the two lines would then be complete. I have not heard much lately of the contemplated line between the warehouse had under hately of the order of the result principal travelling of a long time of the want of a proper warehouse as to bring the most distant sections of its a near togeth freight of our Western and upper country merchants, while the costs of re-shipping the goods would be greatly reduced.

The situation of the "Brooklyn Iron Warcheusee" is within the port of New Orleans. The lands on that side of the river are some six or eight feet higher than on this side, and the location is admirable, as it is not subject to be overflowed by high water. Besides, freight can be shipped at lower rates there than in the city. Foreign merchanding, in bond or out, can also be landed at the warchouses, which will be a great convenience also to our city merchants who desire to reship their foreign goods. The warchouses join the contemplated terminus of the New Orleans, Attackapas and Opeiousas Railroad, which, when finished, the warchouses will prove of great advantage to, for the receiving and shipping of goods. This point, which lies opposite the Third Municipality, in the course of time must become what your Brooklyn is to New York.

The intense hot weather has not even had the effect of bringing out the "Bloomer costuma" with us yet, though it is said there is some talk of reefing linen in our sister city, Mobile.

T. J. Foster, Frederick Marshall, and Augustus Cady, notorious burglars, were put on their trial yesterday, for robbing the jewelry store of Mr. Charles, and found gulty. Anthony Hanhouse, alias McLean, was particeps criminis, but turned State's evidence. He had only been out of the penitentiary a short time, where had been sent for a year, when a convict in the Parish prison, named Boyce, gave him a letter of introduction to Foster, and told him he thought he could get a job.

The Larr First in St. Louis.—The St. Louis Rerabbic.

The Lave First in St. Louis.—The St. Louis Republican, of the 13th inst., speaking of the late fires in that city, says:—The entire buildings destroyed, five in number, were owned by Mr. Beehler. He also occupied the stores Nos. 86 and 90 Second street, and a portion of the house on the sliey. His business was that of an upholsterer. He sets down his loss in buildings, stock and material, at from $40,000 to $45,000, upon which there was only $5,000 insurance in the German Home Mutual. The store No. 88 Second street, between Nos. 86 and 90, was occupied by Wm. M. Harlow, as furniture wavercoms. Loss on stock and materials $17,000; insurance, $11,000, $2,000 of which was in the Madison, $4,000 in the Lexington, and $5,000 in the Tennessoe—all agencies. Ferdinand Kemp, the hemp hove manufacturer, lost about $100, in stock and material which is covered. A portion of the rear of Thou, Grey & extensive blacksmith shop was also consumed and injured by a failing walk Loss probably $1,000, covered in the offices in this city.
